INTRODUCTION

Freya House is a unique opportunity to acquire a self-contained Mixed Use Investment Freehold in the heart of this evolving Central London residential and entertainment district. The building is surrounded by a number of development projects which are either underway or in the development pipeline and the broader region is under-pinned by the significant investment being made by Quintain Living as they create a vast set of private rental sector homes with rising rents and ever-improving amenities.

HISTORY

The name "Wembley" originates from 'Wemba lea,' first recorded in 825, meaning 'Wemba's clearing.' Over time, this area evolved into Wembley Green, with Wembley village developing atop a hill near the future Harrow Road. Tokyngton, southeast of Wembley, derives its name from 'the farm of the sons of Toca,' and was noted for its population density in the 1086 Domesday Book survey. By 1240, a chapel dedicated to St Michael was established, offering a closer alternative to the distant Harrow Church for local worship.

APARTMENTS

Freya House apartments feature loft-style entrance doors and brushed, oiled oak flooring with underfloor heating. Kitchens are equipped with high-gloss units, hardwood worktops, Bosch appliances, and metro-tiled splashbacks. Safety features include mains-operated smoke and heat detectors with battery backup. Other amenities include double-glazed windows, an electronic door entry system, LED lighting, and individual gas-fired boilers.

TRANSPORT

Located in northwest London, Freya House benefits from excellent transport links. Wembley Park Underground Station (Jubilee and Metropolitan lines) offers quick access to central London, while Wembley Stadium Railway Station connects to the Chiltern Railways network, reaching destinations like Marylebone. Numerous bus routes and convenient road access further enhance connectivity.
