THE PROPERTY

St Andrews Church Hall was Designed by Sir Ernest George and Alfred Yeates in 1898 as an ancillary space to the Former St Andrews Church in Streatham which was demolished in 1992 following a fire. In recent years the property has been home to the Streatham Common GP practice, which, following a number of years at the location, will be relocating.

The property was extended and converted in 1995 to provide accommodation for a medical practice. The conversion included an extension to the rear and subdivisions and remodification of the church hall layout into surgery rooms and facilities. Exterior and interior historical features were retained, including the dormer, casement windows and the exposed timber roof trusses.

The Grade II listed building consists of a main building (in excess of 6,000 sq.ft / 558 sq.m) that has been superbly designed and carefully maintained throughout the practices tenure. We estimate the plot size to be 625 sq.m (0.154 acres) including a delightful, paved terrace to the south-side of the main building.

The premises is laid out over Basement, Ground & Mezzanine levels with several partitions in place to create private consultation & office rooms in addition to a large reception area at the entrance to the premises with significant ceilings height up to the pitched roof.

THE OPPORTUNITY

The Former Church Hall will be provided with full vacant possession on completion of legal formalities. The immediate surrounding of the property is in a largely residential location with several high quality houses and flats being in the vicinity. The area has seen a significant uplift in levels of investment due to its numerous schools from Primary to Secondary alongside several nurseries that have strong appeal to young families looking to maintain a strong connection to London.

Given the Grade II listed status of the building, a sympathetic conversion from Use Class E to Use Class C3 (STPP) could provide some of the most desirable residential accommodation in the area on a £/sq.ft basis. The private outdoor courtyard could further enhance the potential of this offering providing a truly unique opportunity that will be highly desired.

THE LOCATION

Guildersfield Road is set amongst a series of Roads in Streatham Common that have had a significant increase in their desirability over the past 20 years. The area is continuing to see significant levels of investment intending to upgrade the existing accommodation to match the demographic changes. Furthermore, there have been multiple developments that have provided strong results for developers including Quilter House.

The subject property is a moment from Streatham High Road and its high level of amenities including an Access Self Storage, Sainsburys, Timpson's & Tesco Extra. Transport to the City of London & the West End takes less than 40 minutes. In addition there are numerous bus routes to the City and around South-East & South-West London.
